FINISHING OPTIONS

Matt Lamination

For a subtle yet highly sophisticated finish, matt lamination gives your print a smooth feel while reducing any glare. Matt laminated products have the added option for spot UV embellishments.

Gloss Lamination

As the name suggests, gloss lamination adds a shiny coating to your work. Colours are made brighter and gradients are exaggerated – great for dramatic photography.

Soft-touch Lamination

Also known as velvet lamination, soft-touch does exactly as it says on the tin – it makes your print soft to the touch. This is a very stylish and delicate print finish.

Gloss Anti-Bac Lamination

Using small particles of silver ions, this lamination has natural anti-bacterial properties. Keep your print, and the people who handle your print, safe from bacteria – as well as adding a professional gloss finish.

Spot UV

Spot UV is used to highlight specific elements of your design with a high-gloss coating. Use a high-build finish for even more texture and make your print truly memorable.

Foiling

Add a flash of metallic colour to your designs with foiling – a sure-fire way to make your print more professional and sophisticated. Choose from gold, silver, copper, red, or green.

DECADENT CAKES RECIPE BOOK

Bakers need an enclosed space for heating – typically an oven. The heat can be supplied by wood, coal, gas, or electricity. Adding and removing items from an oven may be done by hand with an oven mitt or by a post, a long handled tool specifically used for that purpose.

The baking process does not require any fat to be used to cook in an oven. When baking, consideration must be given to the amount of fat that is contained in the food item. Higher levels of fat such as margarine, butter, lard, or vegetable shortening will cause an item to spread out during the baking process.
